The World Health Organization (WHO) declared COVID-19 a public health emergency of international concern on 30 January 2020 and, because of the worldwide spread, a pandemic on 11th March 2020. COVID-19, a biomedical disease has serious physical and tremendous mental health implications as the rapidly spreading pandemic. The webinar was inaugurated by the Hon. Vice-chancellor Prof. M. Surya Kalavathi and she addressed the following issues. The global community can adopt a One Health approach in the fight against COVID-19 by the following steps. This will ensure that the same standards are observed worldwide for diagnosis, reporting, and results sharing. Fourth, governments should coordinate multi-sectoral engagement and partnership with One Health stakeholders in the fight against COVID-19 so as to speed up prevention and disease response.

Detailed session wise summary

2.00 p.m.	Inaugural session
The webinar was started with the Opening message by Prof. M. Surya Kalavathi, on. Vice-Chancellor, Yogi Vemna University, Kadapa. She focused on changes in our society like globalization, modernization, industrialization, and many others, the role of women in our society has also changed because of better education, mindset and morals. The ever-increasing duties that a woman has today are not only concerned with usual tasks of a housewife but further of a working woman too another thing which has been the same all these years is the fixed attitude of the society which demands that a woman has to take care of the family needs in all situations despite the fact that she also has a professional work life. Prof. S. Raghunatha Reddy, Vice- Principal emphasized women's' role as mother and . Women are expanding their life to include work while maintaining their traditional role. They work in the office 6 to 8 hours, but their work does not end there, after coming home she takes care of children, husband, parents and in-laws. Her responsibilities make a very demanding schedule. Academic wellbeing of women helps to enhance and acquiring independent sources of income, self-esteem, thereby increasing overall level of community wellbeing.
2.30 p.m	Research trends on Mental Health Issues of Women in India- Prof. D. Jamuna
The aim of course is to achieve such a state of wellbeing with vital in health promotion on a holistic approach. As per the global reports mental health issues contribute to 14% of the global burden of disease and it is steadily increasing year by year. Yet still the studies say that we tend to underestimate and the database stemming from the stigma associated with mental illness, dearth facilities, and resources also poor survival. As rightly recognized that the determinants of mental health are social and economic rather than purely medical. Conditions like unequal distribution of recourses, nutrition, education, healthcare and so on between gender groups and social classes would trigger mental health issues.
3.00 p.m	Mental health and quality of life in married working women- Prof. Ahalya Raguram,
She emphasized on challenges related to working women such as individual career ambition, competition, inability to prioritize, inefficient time management, lack of proper facilities, increased pressure on being productive, sexual harassment at workplace, attitudes of the society about her interest in profession compared to family and no such expectations centered around men. While balancing these demands women has less time for herself leading to negative effect of subjective wellbeing. He has also presented how a married woman should improve her skills in managing workplace and family with joyful way.
3.45 p.m	Promoting Gender Equality and Women's Empowerment- Prof. B. Revathy,
Gender equality is a human fight not female fight. India's progress towards gender equality on Gender Development Index has been disappointing despite rapid rates of economic growth. Prominent gender inequality issues in India includes dowry system and violence related to it, physical and sexual abuse, preference for sons, illiteracy, unequal wages, only 11% women MPs against 89% of male MPs, killing female in the womb itself etc. Social taboos superstitions, lack of freedom, discouragement from family and environment, lack of safety, poverty, lack of education, gender inequality, exploitation, illness, malnutrition, etc., Inclusive measure are to be taken to overcome the above. Men should appreciate and support women in all the areas.

Ramasubba Reddy,

Although women contribute tremendous amount of contribute to the economy of the nation much of it is not accounted for in statics as much of their work is in informal or unorganized sector like domestic help or other unskilled labor etc. There is a significant amount of discrimination faced by many women in the form of gender inequality, or family responsibilities, paying less wage etc. The glass Ceiling effect is a classic example of discrimination. Work life balancing includes prioritizing work, learn how to say, organizing your things, remember no one is perfect, practice good time management, reward yourself rather than waiting for others, maintain self-care, maintain good relationships.

5.45 p.m. Mental Health of Immigrant Working women-Ms. Tirumala Nandini,

She emphasized on mental health of immigrant women in India. The economic need of the situation makes the women to start working immediately or look for work, which is not the same what they are used to do. For which one has to learn new skills, new language, and new weather etc. and find it very challenging along with usual roles. No extended family, not enough money, new culture, multiple life demands etc lead to various mental health issues. Also there is a very less help seeking behavior in women. Support in terms of lot of employment support, how to access jobs, learn new skills, and support other mental health issues. Also they need a counselor who can speak their mother tongue. Help them develop new coping strategies cause the coping they have from India such as calling a friend, go to a movie, or temple, but in a new culture one needs a person to do all this.

6.00 p.m Valedictory Session

Prof. D. Vijaya Raghava Prasad, Chief guest for Valedictory emphasized there is a very less help seeking behavior in women. Support in terms of lot of employment support, how to access jobs, learn new skills, and support other mental health issues. Dr. V. Lazar Co-convener and coordinator of the department thanked National commission for Women, New Delhi.
